INTRODUCTION TO THE GENEALOGY OF THE FEARNOW FAMILY IN AMERICA

Edgar C. Fearnow, Capitol Heights, Maryland, who started this compilation, recorded in the Library of Congress, a booklet entitled "The Fearnow Family" which included all the information which he had gathered at that time (1930). This booklet was read by him on Aug. 30, 1930 at the State Park, Berkeley Springs, W. Va. at the first reunion of the family on the 170th anniversary of the birth of John Fernow, whose descendants are herein recorded.

This booklet is extremely interesting because it includes not only a very good record of the Eastern branch of the family, descendants of (2) Daniel Fearnow - the third child of the original John Fernow, as of 1930, but also a very provocative dissertation on the origin of names and their meaning; a partial explanation of the changes in the spelling of the name; a bit of history about the Huguenots, their background and their driving force (which was not too far removed from the pilgrims who migrated to America) which was to secure for themselves a broader measure of personal liberty and religious freedom; and a little story about John Fernow (the soldier) who learned much from his experience in the new country.

It is impossible to reproduce this booklet in this record but I am sure it will be of interest to anyone who visits the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C., and asks to see it.

Edgar C. Fearnow had correspondence in 1913 with Anna Fernow of Berlin, Germany. She was a sister of Dr. Bernard Eduard Fernow, Dean Emeritus of the School of Forestry of the University of Toronto, (who was also instrumental in setting up the U. S. Bureau of Forestry the forerunner of the present U. S. Forest Service). Dr. Fernow was a member of a family which claimed as its home location the same area from which John Fernow migrated (Hesse Cassel, Germany). Although Bernard Eduard Fernow did not arrive in the U.S. until 1876, it appears quite probable that the two families stem from a common ancestor. Anna Fernow reported that she could not establish a direct connection, but was quite confident that the two families were of the same origin. Here are quotations from Anna Fernow's letter:

"We have no sure knowledge of the origin of our family as the papers which would have given some information were lost by fire. Nevertheless, a tradition is kept up that our ancestors were Huguenots out of the neighborhood of Rouen, France, who after the Abolition Act of Nantes, emigrated to Sweden. The name is said to have been Vernehault, Verneau, or Verno. My oldest brother, Berthold Fernow, interested in this affair, found in Hozier's Heraldic work a coat of arms similar to ours.

"My father was a high official of Government in the Province of Posen. We were a family of twelve by three marriages, several of whom lived and worked in the United States. Now, the only one is my brother in Toronto. (This was the Dr. Bernard Eduard Fernow mentioned above).

"Another family of the same name were the descendants of men of renown. An historian in arts, Earl Ludwig Fernow, a friend of Goethe, was director of the Ducal Library at Weimar. His son, bookseller in Leipsig, left the country for political reasons".

Of interest may be the following information printed in the Columbus, Ohio Journal for Oct. 7, 1953 (Ripley's "Believe it or not"):

"Blood money Castle", of Cassel, Germany, was built by Landgrave Frederick II with $21,276,778. paid to him by England in 1776 for sending German military draftees to America to fight with the British army against the Colonies".

(2) Joseph Ferneau, after an absence of 60 years, returned to Morgan County, W. Va. where he visited with Daniel W. Fearnow (father of the compiler of this record, Marshall H. Fearnow) with whom he reviewed the scenes of his childhood. Joseph Ferneau was 14 years old when he went West. He was 74 years of age at the time of this visit and could mount a horse from the ground without aid of stirrups. He related that the father purchased land in Ohio in its natural state at $1.25 per acre. They cleared the land for farming and at this time (1879) the land was worth $100. to $125. per acre. So far as we know, Joseph Ferneau was the only one of the original family who ever returned for a visit to the old homestead until the reunions were started in 1930.

Joseph Ferneau's youngest son, Judson O. Ferneau, was the only living grandson of the original John Fernow and he was present at the first family reunion in 1930.

In 1929 the compiler's daughter was in an airplane crash at Indianapolis. Her name was headlined and shortly thereafter she received a letter from another Mary Fearnow of Copemish, Mich., asking if there was any relationship. This incident opened up a new source and correspondence with the members of this family added materially to this record.

Over 45 years ago began the research and study culminating in this genealogy record. It was begun, as stated, by Edgar Cecil Fearnow and carried on by him until 1930, when the first annual reunion of the Fearnow family was held in Berkeley Springs, W. Va.. This first attempt to unite the various groups of the family, both east and west, was attended by over 200, many of whom had never been in the east, although their ancestors all came from the part of Northern Virginia, now known as Morgan County, W. Va. These reunions have been continued annually since that date.

It was about this time that Marshall H. Fearnow, the compiler of this record began to collaborate with the aforementioned Edgar C. Fearnow, and when the latter, by reason of failing health had to give it up, the former took over, and for more than 25 years has worked assiduously at the task.

Rev. Martin Luther Fearnow, brother of Marshall H. Fearnow, has made numerous trips with him to Court Houses as far west as Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to collect information. They also visited many homes to get up-to-date data.

Rev. M. L. Fearnow makes this appropriate comment:

"When we realize that this family tree has probably put out more living branches and twigs since, than it possessed when this study began, we will be able to understand the enormity of the task, and the utter impossibility of making the record complete. Consequently, as time is rapidly running out (the compiler being now past 91 years of age), it has been decided to close the record as of April 1, 1959, and send it out upon its mission."

IN APPRECIATION

I have compiled this record (starting with the original contribution of Edgar Cecil Fearnow which, as stated, is recorded in the Library of Congress) and with much appreciated assistance from the following:

Mrs. M. W. Boardman, Whittier, California
Mr. Raymond Cheek, Hollister, California
Mrs. A. G. Cameron, Greenfield, Ohio
Mrs. Brady G. Fearnow, Ellerson, Virginig
Mr. C. W. Fearnow and daughter, Sleepy Creek, W. Va.
Mr. Ival Fearnow, Wabash, Indiana
Rev. Martin L. Fearnow, Washington, D. C.
Mr. Theodore C. Fearnow, Berkeley Springs, W. Va.
Mr. Ralph Fearnow, Frankfort, Indiana
Mr. Warren Fearnow, Frankfort, Indiana
Mr. W. O. Fearnow (deceased) and sons, Hagerstown and Cumberland, Md.
Miss Anna Ferneau, Dayton, Ohio
Mr. Darold Ross Ferneau, St. Louis, Missouri

(1) JOHN FERNOW

(b. 1760 near Amsterdam, Holland, d. 1825, Greenfield, Ohio)

John Fernow came to America as a drum major in the Hessian contingent of the British Army. Served under General Cornwallis who surrendered to General Washington at Yorktown in 1781. Fernow served an apprenticeship in a glove factory at Fredericksburg, Va. for two years. He made himself a pair of gloves which was used by the family for many years at marriage ceremonies. He settled at Bath, Virginia (now Berkeley Springs, W. Va.) and farmed about 8 miles south of town, rearing 13 children. In the evenings he often conducted an orchestra at the hotel in town. Early in the 19th century (about 1810) he bought land in Scioto Valley, Ohio and located some of his children on the land he owned. In 1818 he moved to Ohio with the remainder of the family with the exception of Daniel who remained in Virginia and from whom descended the eastern branch of the family.

All of the original 13 children grew to adulthood and married and it is reported that the average age at death was 75 years which is verified by the ages of those whose records follow. There will be recorded herein the descendants of all but two of the original 13 children. One of these (Roseanne) had no descendants, and of the other (Esther) no records have been found.

It will be noted that the family name was changed from Fernow to Fearnow (in Virginia), to Fearno (in Illinois), and to Ferneau (in Ohio).

The original 13 children are here listed:

- (2) Martha E. (1786 - 1858)
- (2) John H. (1787 - 1877)
- (2) Daniel (1789 - 1846)
- (2) Mary Magdalene (1790 - 1879)
- (2) Philip (1791 - 1815)
- (2) Roseanne (1793 - 1878)
- (2) Henry (1795 - 1868)
- (2) David (1797 - 1876)
- * (2) Solomon (1798 -)
- (2) Elizabeth (Polly) - (1800 -)
- (2) Esther (1802 -)
- (2) Joseph (1804 - 1891)
- (2) Samuel (1807 - 1892)

(* - Soloman Fernow (2) was the only one of the children to retain the original spelling of the name.)

The children of John Fernow will now be recorded with their descendants in the order of birth:

- (2) Martha E. Fernow, b. Berkely County, Va. 1786, d. 4/12/1858, Kempton, Indiana, m. 4/27/1811 to Leonard Goodnight - issue:

- (5) Lawrence Lydy
- (5) Charles Lydy
- (5) Flora Lydy

Note: Raymond Cheek (6) of Hollister, California is a musician of note and has contributed to this record in a large measure.

David Lydy (5) of Indianapolis, Indiana was first contacted at a Fearnow reunion at Tipton, Indiana in 1953 which he attended in order to represent himself as a descendant of the family. It was the first connection with this branch of the family. David Lydy and his wife later visited the compiler of this record at his winter home in Florida (Kissimmee) and his Washington, D. C. home on several occasions. He and his wife also attended several reunions of the family at Berkeley Springs, W. Va. making many snapshots of the affair and distributing them to members of the family which was greatly appreciated.

From records of Washington Court House, Fayette County, Ohio:

"Martha Fernow, widow and administratrix of the estate of Leonard Goodnight. The farm of Leonard Goodnight was bought by his son Samuel, 154 acres Survey 3986. The farm in Sept. 1926 was owned by Mont. Haines. The old house, barn and shed are still standing, pinned with wooden pins and doors hung with wooden hinges. In the Court House, Fayette County, Perry Township, is an old map framed and hung on the wall of the Treasurer's office, giving a survey of the Samuel Goodnight farm which was his fathers. It runs back to Rattle-snake stream of water. The old house built by Goodnight was moved back in 1914 and a new house built. The farm has been owned by three generations of Haines.

(Note: Daniel W. Fearnow (father of the compiler of this record) was a descendant of the original Daniel who preferred to remain in the East. At the early age of 18, by reason of the death of his father, he was left to care for his mother and five younger brothers and sisters. He settled near Berkeley Springs, W. Va. and farmed most of his life. This endeavor proved very successful and he prospered. By his first marriage he had two sons and a daughter. The oldest child (M. H. Fearnow) became a teacher and then a jeweler in Washington, D. C. The second son (Martin L. Fearnow), after teaching for a number of years, entered the ministry of the Methodist Church, from which he retired in 1942. The third child (Edith Pearl Fearnow) married a prosperous Maryland farmer and builder. By the second marriage, Daniel W. Fearnow had 7 children, 5 of whom married and remained in the same vicinity, the youngest (William D. Fearnow) taking over the home place and continued farming.)

(Note: Rob Roy Wilson was born near Washington Court House, Ohio. At the age of 17 he moved with his parents to Boulder, Colorado and later to Los Angeles, Calif., where he attended the Medical School of the University of California, graduating in 1904. He began his practice at Payson, Arizona, covering a rural area of 50 miles in radius, and living 100 miles from the nearest railroad. After 2 years he moved to Globe, Arizona, where he specialized in surgery. Working far beyond his powers to keep pace, with a rapidly growing practice, his health failed and he was compelled to retire in the prime of life. His last days were spent with his parents in Los Angeles, Calif., where he died Jan. 31, 1912, at the age of 30. During his earlier practice, in a region devoid of specialists, he was doctor, dentist, surgeon, anesthetist and druggist, carrying with him in his saddle pockets, his medicines and instruments.)

ADDENDA

(Miscellaneous items from reference books by Darold Ross Ferneau, St. Louis, Missouri)

From New England Historical Society:

Charles Furneaux of Melrose (Mass.) painted portraits of
Gov. Andrew, the Rev. Dr. Felt, and Mr. Kidder.

Charles Furneaux, Melrose, membership in New England Historic and Genealogical Society ceased 31 December 1882.

From Encyclopaedia of Heraldry - Burke

Furneaulx arms. Gu. a bend between six crosses crosslet or.

Furneaux arms. Sa. a pale lozengy ar.

Furneux arms. Gu. a bend between six martlets or.

or. - gold or yellow

sa. Sable or black

ar. - silver or white

gu. gules or red

From a book on derivation of names:

Furness, Furniss - loc., Essex, Lancaster, Flanders. From French, Latin - Furneaux, Normandy. The spelling in the 13th century is generally Furneis, Furneys, and Furnes.

Notices of the family of Furneaux

From the Eleventh to the fifteenth century.

The name is found in two of the most trusted transcripts of Battle Abbey Roll - in that of Holinshed as "Furnieus", in that of Leland as "Fourneus". Among versions of less value, Brompton's "Chronicle" gives "Forneus"; "R. de ferneaulx"; the Dives Roll, "Eude de Fourneaux". The name is thought to be taken from Fourneaux, near Coutances.

(Note: I have often wondered if the Furneaux family of England was a branch of the original French family. Tobias Furneaux who sailed with Capt. Cook was a member of that family. There is considerable writing about them in various volumes of Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica. The coat of arms of that family is: Gu. a bend between six crosses crosslet or.
